
Will grinding my teeth break my implants?

Posted by 33cire - 2008/11/30 04:45

I recently started grinding my teeth, not sure why. When I wake up in the morning my crown feels funny. Will grinding my teeth cause my crown to break? What can I do to stop grinding my teeth or protect my crown?

=====

Re:Will grinding my teeth break my implants?

Posted by dentist new york - 2008/12/13 21:41

If your implant crown is high or hits during your excursions, it could cause your implant to fail prematurely. Why don't you visit your dentist to have him check your bite and your excursions. He can make an adjustment if he feels it is needed.

=====

Re:Will grinding my teeth break my implants?

Posted by JimmyD - 2011/12/07 04:12

I was involved in a accident recently and chipped two teeth. I had crowns applied at a NYC dentists to repair the teeth but I also find myself grinding them or pushing on them with my tongue. Is this ordinary if the crowns are new?

=====